EYELAND</h2>

      <summary title="click to expand">About</summary>

       Within the global spectrum, there are different spheres in which the realization of peace is determined by our choices. On the international level, choices made by global leaders and organizations have an immediate impact on ordinary citizens unrepresented in the decision making. On the national and community level, choices and actions made by citizens bear responsibility, and shape the course that countries and communities take. On the personal level, choices affect our well-being, inner peace, and relationship with others.

    <details>
      <summary title="click to expand">Our Philosophy</summary>

We firmly believe that there lies enormous potential for conflict resolution through unmediated dialogue and discussion, viewing it as a force to spread the profound possibility of global harmony. The conference is idealistic. This is what gives it its power.  We aim to spark activism and initiative among  youth.

        With enormous commitment, hard work and perseverance; with cooperation, collaboration and understanding; by recognizing the barriers and obstacles that lie ahead, yet not merely accepting them, peace can be a reality.

     During a three-day conference, 400 participants of over 105 nationalities, take part in a wide variety of engagements. Workshops led by youth, who have either experienced the absence of peace or with personal ties to various forms of conflict, offer unique insights and solution-based discussions. Peacemakers, challengers, advocates, and experts from around the world share their knowledge and inspire through lectures and leaded debates.
The intercultural evenings and performances add a sense of optimism and understanding, a sense of hope and purpose.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE CONFERENCE 2020: THE EYELAND

Ines Chami

Morroco / Conference Content

In my opinion peace doesn't mean absence of war. For me it's the absence of violence. Peace is an activity. It's a commitment that is practiced every day in all our interactions. Peace is a relationship of good living together, solid and sustainable based on respect, serenity, cordiality between all humans but also any form of life on earth. That is why I joined the International Peace conference, I wanted to propagate peace and no violence. Make the world a better place where everyone can live together and help each other.
